PROGRESS ON SITE

Rugarama Hospital and Rugarama School of Nursing and Midwifery were honored to receive the Archbishop His Grace, the most reverend Stephen Kaziimba on the site of the new classroom block to officially consecrate the new building. The archbishop was led by Bishop Gad Akanjuna, a team from the bishop's office, and a wider hospital and school community. The classroom block construction is moving on well and we look forward to its opening very soon.

ACKNOWLEDGING FRIENDS

This month, we bid adieu to the volunteers from the German Mission Medical team and coworkers, and we thank them for their service. The longest-serving volunteers were Dr. Michael and Dr. Ruth Waas, who during their time with us helped us establish protocols on the pediatric and maternity ward and helped with the purchase of equipment among other things. They'll be sorely missed. We appreciate how other friends and volunteers constantly give back and send gifts to the patients who aren't as fortunate.

A COMMUNITY HOSPITAL

When we went to see Baby Trust, she was doing great! We related the terrible tale of dear baby Trust, who was left at the home of a traditional healer after being abandoned, burned, and starved; thanks to our friends' church in Germany, led by Sr. Birte, we were able to pay for her hospital care. Although the contractures from the burns cause her pain as she walks, Trust is doing well. Plans are in place to remove these contractures and make it easier for her to go back to school. A special thanks to Birte and her church family for their love and support.

One of our midwives recently had the opportunity to undergo point-of-care ultrasound training, and we are delighted to announce that all patients will soon have access to ultrasound care at their bedsides. The importance of diagnostics in medicine and patient care has increased. We are now exploring ways to adopt new technologies and equipment. One of our top priorities is getting a digital X-ray, so we are planning to do so soon. Our goal is to advance and expand while providing a wide range of services.

IMPROVING CUSTOMER CARE

July is our customer care month; we discuss topics that improve our service delivery to the external customer, review customer feedback forms and evaluate one another on how best we can improve. This time Pediatric ward won as the best ward in terms of customer care followed by the eye ward and dental. Congratulations to the best performing!!!!
